Opportunities to experience life in PA (before I start work)

12. Are scholars given the opportunity to intern with PA?

Yes. As a guide, the first internship should be scheduled in the university break after Year 1, and the second after Year 3. The first internship should be at a CO so as to experience the PA's core business in community development and grassroots engagement. The other internship should be at a division in the Partnership or Engagement Groups, where the scholars will be able to co-organise and understand the upstream programming and downstream implementation of bite-size engagement projects with the ground units.

13. What are the various engagement and developmental touchpoints with PA during studies?

The scholars will:

- Be assigned to a PA buddy during studies. This PA buddy who is a PA staff will be the conduit for PA to engage the scholar actively;
- Be connected through sharing of scholars' experience in PA Intranet during internships;
- Invited to the annually-held PA Scholarship Awards Ceremony and PA/community events; and
- Invited to join PA Frenz and contribute to PA Facebook.

Scholars' Career Development

14. What will the scholars' career development be like?

The scholars will start their career with the Constituency Office (CO) for ground experience and to learn the general management perspectives of PA through job rotations and leadership developmental programmes. They will be able to tackle policy development better with this experience under their belt.

As part of the engagement and developmental plans, scholars will be provided with opportunities to dialogue with the CED regularly and be actively involved in stretched assignments such as cross-divisional projects and even have the opportunity to be part of the mentoring programme. Scholars may also be seconded to other public agencies. Such diverse leadership development opportunities will help them develop both their personal and professional leadership in community development to take on strategic roles in PA.
